GETTYSBURG COLLEGE

COMMITTEE ON REVISION HAVE DONE THEIR WORK.

Gettysburg College Equal to the Best in State and Country—Progressive Needs.

Gettysburg College is doing things these days and proposes to do things, and become recognized throughout the length and breadth of this land as the equal of any college.

Indeed this result is assured by the action of the committee appointed at the June meeting of the Board of Trustees. This committee was composed of three members from the Board, Dr. Charles Baum, Luther Eisenhart and Pres. S. G. Hefelbower, three members from the faculty, Dr. John A. Himes, Dr. P. M. Bickle and Dr. E. S. Breidenbaugh, and two prominent Alumni educators, Dr. Edgar F. Smith and Dr. John Marshall, of Philadelphia.

The college was most fortunate in the selection of this committee. Every man on the committee is devoted to an aggressive progressive policy for the institution, and their work must demand and receive the greatest confidence. Dr. Edgar F. Smith is recognized as one in the first rank of the educators of this country, not only because of original achievements, but because as Dean of the University of Pennsylvania he has for years successfully helped to guide that great institution. Dr. John Marshall as Dean of the Medical Department of the same University takes first rank as an educator, and Luther Eisenhart is one of the coming men in the management of Princeton.

This committee recently met in Philadelphia and have completed their labors. They went right straight to the accomplishment of the work given them to do.

They drafted new conditions of entrance, giving Gettysburg College a standard of entrance requirements equal to the best colleges in the State, and that means in the country.

They revised the curriculum so as to make Gettysburg College a first class college.

They re-adjusted the curriculum necessitated by the increased number of instructors.

The work of the committee was along conservative lines of college education. There was no radicalism towards making electives the great feature of the college work. The change will be toward the grouping of electives with a certain amount of required work from the student.

There will be some necessary time consumed before the work of the committee is put in full swing, for the report of the work of the committee must be made to the Board of Trustees and be approved by the Board. And there are many details to be worked out in order to bring about the changes. The result however is bound to come, a Gettysburg College equal to the best in the land.

The College will of course, in time, need strengthening in the number of teaching force and that will undoubtedly be added. One of the branches that may be needed to be enlarged at early date is that of political economy. What a magnificent opportunity such a need gives the millionaires and rich men of Pennsylvania.

On Gettysburg ground was uttered the greatest patriotic speech ever made in this country, a magnificent, thrilling call to service. What could be more fitting than that those who have the money should richly add to the endowment of Gettysburg College and at the same time create a chair devoted to the Service of Government, of by and for the People. It would be a magnificent appropriate sequel of Lincoln's immortal speech. One would think the rich men of the State would vie with each other to add such meaning to Lincoln's words.

The building up of a progressive College will mean much to this town. Next year is going to illustrate to Gettysburg some of the progressive work that is being done in a very tangible form—a larger student body. Such a body means now that it must be cared for in town. Last year there was a total attendance of 252. Of this number over 15 male students from a distance were lodged in the town. The Senior class leaving College numbered 33 but that does not leave that many vacant rooms, for 12 of that number were residents of the town. So that the departure of the Senior class leaves about 21 vacant rooms, and if the 15 or more boys scattered now in town take the vacant rooms there would be but 5 or 6 rooms left to accommodate the Freshman class. The prospects are for a Freshman class of over 60 and that means that next year at least 50 students will have to be lodged in town.

This condition demonstrates the absolute need of the College for money at once for Dormitories, not one but two or three. South College accommodates about 40 students and it would take two buildings, both as large as South College, to accommodate all the students coming in September with lodging on the campus, and with little room then for growth.

A Story of Coincidents.

What strange coincidents run through life. When preparing our last issue we came upon a story of the battle told by Capt. Wm. L. Stork. Having enjoyed the story ourselves we concluded to pass it along to our readers as appropriate to an issue of the COMPILER on the anniversary week of the battle.

A gentleman called at the COMPILER office early Wednesday morning, right after the last of the papers had been mailed and introduced himself as Capt. Wm. L. Stork of Baltimore. He had noticed his account of the battle in the COMPILER upon his arrival in town.

Capt. Stork knows many interesting stories of the battle and his visit was marked by another coincidence. Capt. Stork commanded Co. I of the 29th Pa., and he had arranged to meet George Washington Brown of Wayne, Pa., of Co. D of same regiment here and together they would spend the 44th anniversary on the battlefield. The two were surprised and delighted to find here another visitor, Albert Markings of Philadelphia, of Co. C of the same regiment and with latter was his daughter, Miss Markings. The happy party thoroughly enjoyed the unexpected reunion.

Capt. Stork is a brother of Rev. Dr. Charles Stork, dec'd, who was a member of the faculty of the Theological Seminary in 1881 and sons of Rev. Dr. Theophilus Stork, a graduate of Gettysburg College in 1835.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John St., Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by The Peoples Drug Store.

Oil Drilling Plans.

The plans for drilling for oil grow more interesting with each day. Edward F. Strasbaugh completed last week his part of the contract for 15,000 feet of lumber and same was being delivered during the week to the point at which the derrick will be erected. A carload of rig irons, drive pipe and casing shipped from the oil fields of Bradford county arrived at Orrtanna last week. There has been a busy time hauling this material from the station to the point where derrick will be built.

An expert rig builder will at once go ahead with the erection of the derrick. Wm. Chapman has made a contract to deliver wood to run the engine and he has been busy getting wood together so that there will be fuel to run engine.

L. T. L. STATE CONVENTION

ADAMS COUNTY DELEGATES TAKE PROMINENT PART.

Interesting Report of the Work of Convention and What the L. T. L. is Doing.

Tuesday Evening

The first session of the sixteenth annual convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion of Pennsylvania, a branch of the W. C. T. U., was held in Wilkes-Barre, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium with about two hundred delegates representing nearly every county in the state, present, together with the State officers and quite a number of visitors.

The presiding officer was J. George Frederick of Reading, the president of the State L. T. L. Elma M. Preston of Chester Co., the General state secretary of L. T. L. work, occupied a seat on the platform.

The hall was a beautiful place and was decorated with the national colors and the L. T. L. banners. The address of welcome was given by Charles Johnson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. the response by Miss Ethel Ashmore of New Castle, Lawrence Co. Mrs. Jenkins of Wilkes-Barre made a brief address, Rev. Dr. A. E. Pifer of the first Methodist Church conducted the devotions, the exercises were interspersed with songs of an enlivening character. Mr. Frederick, the state president gave a splendid address in which he spoke of the growth of the temperance movement, noting a number of facts in this connection. He told of the fact that one of the state judges had declared the saloon to be an unconstitutional institution. That the Liquor League at its recent convention expressed alarm at the growing strength of the temperance movement.

That 15 per cent of the country's population is employed under the express stipulation that they shall not use intoxicants; that several great writers have voiced their opinion that the liquor question must be solved and that its only solution is to educate the people to the knowledge of its injurious effects. In closing he told of the great opportunity before the L. T. L. along this line of education. At the conclusion of his address the State song composed by Miss Margaret MacMillan of Gettysburg and the State rallying cry were given with enthusiasm. Rev. R. B. Webster pronounced the benediction.

Wednesday Morning

The first business session of the convention was held Wednesday morning, in addition to the members there were quite a large number of visitors present, all of whom seemed to be interested in and pleased with the proceedings. The Loyal Temperance Legion is an organization connected with the W. C. T. U. It seeks to interest the young people in the temperance movement and by giving them scientific temperance instruction and having them take the following comprehensive pledge, indicated that the work of the organization is not solely along temperance lines, but along those of righteousness and pure living as well.

"I promise by the help of God, never to drink alcoholic liquors (wine, beer, and cider, included); never to use tobacco in any of its forms; always to endeavor to put down profane and indecent language and all coarse jests; and to use every means to fulfill the command, 'Keep thyself pure.'"

There was a great deal of enthusiasm shown among the delegates and during the entire day the clapping of hands, hearty singing and the frequent rallying cry of the various counties gave notice to those within earshot that the delegates are wide awake and believe in the success of their cause.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Ruth K. Cool, the Luzerne County, W. C. T. U. president. After the roll call of officers and superintendents, the president appointed the necessary convention committees.

The report of the corresponding secretary Miss Ella Broomell of Chester Co., indicated good progress during the past year in the Keystone state. Sixty new senior legions were organized during the year and a class of 255 have graduated in the scientific temperance instruction. An interesting feature of the convention followed.

When a series of questions were asked by the president and the secretaries of the various counties took the platform and either read papers or gave short addresses in reply to the questions put to them. Mrs. Ashmore, of Lawrence Co., answered, "Best methods to help state treasury"; Mrs. McGary, of Bucks Co.,—"Best methods to collect dues"; Miss Abbie Jackson of Lancaster—"Best methods of getting leaders."

"The best methods to get young peoples' societies interested," was treated by Miss Corrigan, a very interesting and aged lady from Philadelphia.

Mr. Rice of Adams Co., made some good practical suggestions on "How to hold the alumni."

Miss Mabel Keifer of Wayne Co., on "Getting new legions organized;" Miss Anna Hollobaugh of Gettysburg told of the "Best methods of getting subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly," the national L. T. L. paper. A number of other questions were answered.

Noontide prayer by Miss Margaret Wintringer, the National L. T. L. superintendent.

Wednesday Afternoon
Devotional exercises by Earl Thompson of Johnstown and then nearly two hours were devoted to fifteen minute talks on various phases of L. T. L. work. Rev. J. B. Sweet, the superintendent of the Boys Industrial Association of Wilkes-Barre was introduced and made a short address. Rev. J. M. Furey was introduced.

"The final features of the afternoon's session was the junior half hour and this proved very entertaining. The opening number was a chorus of children, singing an L. T. L. song, following this came presentations of certificates to the children who had completed the Junior study, nineteen in the class.

Then came a recitation and songs, the talent of the children in this direction was remarked upon.

The session was closed by singing the State song which is a general favorite.

Wednesday Evening
The evening session was well attended and the visitors were given a rate entertainment, with music and the oratorical contest in which there were four competitors and the splendid address by Morgan McKoon, president of the New York State L. T. L. Devotions were conducted by Miss Susan McMillin of Lackawanna Co. Music by the Thomas quartet, four small sisters, directed by their older sister.

Greetings were read by Miss Broomell from Anna A. Gordon, Worlds L. T. L. secretary; Mrs. Bell C. Rowley, Sec. of Michigan State L. T. L. and others.

A violin solo by Earl Williams, after which Mrs. Mrs. Ruth Cool extended greetings from the Wilkes-Barre W. C. T. U. Mr. Fuller of New York rendered a couple of solos and Mr. Robert C. Byerly of Lancaster gave a clarinet solo. He was the musical director of the convention, Mark K. Eckert played the piano for the musical numbers. Music was also furnished during the evening by a quartet of violins from Carbondale, with three male and one female violinist, all of whom are L. T. L. graduates of this year. One of the most amusing features of the evening was found in their second selection for which they played Mendelssohn's wedding march. This caused a great deal of fun as the presiding officer, J. George Frederick was to be married on the 29th.

The oratorical contest revealed some excellent speakers. The contest has been an annual feature of the state convention for many years and is a contest in original declamations for which a first and second prize are given. The first prize was given to Mrs. Anna Martin Holmes of Allegheny Co., who spoke on, "Forming not Reforming." Second prize to H. W. Musselman of Berks Co., whose oration was "Victory."

Morgan McKoon, Pres. of New York State L. T. L. gave his address "True Neighborhoodness" which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. This closed the session.

Over Thirty-Five Years.
In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It passed more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by The People's Drug Store.

DEATH'S HEAVY HAND

DISTRESSINGLY SAD DEATH OF A YOUNG WIFE.

Newton M. Horner of Cumberland Township Meets With Sudden Death.

Mrs. Loretta Bushman, wife of R. H. Bushman of this place passed out of life so suddenly and unexpectedly that the town was startled. She was a young woman enjoying apparently good health, living on west side of Baltimore street over the hill. She retired on Saturday evening at about 11 o'clock. Sunday morning at 1 o'clock she awakened her husband and said, "I believe I am going to die." Alarmed he immediately sent for a physician, but before the latter arrived, within 20 minutes from time he was awakened, she passed away. Dr. H. L. Diehl upon his arrival and examination of the body reported that in his opinion death was due to heart failure. Mr. and Mrs. Bushman have been most estimable young people and very ambitious to get along. After their marriage several years ago both continued at their work—he at the tailoring establishment of C. F. Solt and she at cigar making at factory of Geo. E. Stock, and morning, noon and night they were to be seen together going to and from their work, saving for the future they hoped to enjoy. She expected to be a mother soon. On account of the heat and her condition it was decided that immediate interment was necessary and funeral took place Sunday evening, Rev. W. W. Hartman conducting the services with interment in the Evergreen cemetery and J. W. Garlach funeral director. She was a daughter of Jacob B. Miller of this place and was aged 25 years, 2 months and 1 day.

Newton M. Horner died very suddenly at his home near Barlow on Sunday night between 10 and 11 o'clock. Mr. Horner's health had not been of the best recently and he had gone on a vacation to the home of his son-in-law, Rev. Chas. Fisher, near Norfolk. He had visited the Jamestown Exposition and returned much pleased over the trip and it was hoped improved. Sunday indications of paralysis appeared and developed rapidly and he quickly succumbed. His age was 73 years, 4 months and 25 days. Mr. Horner was well known throughout the county and highly respected. He was one of the prosperous citizens of Cumberland township before moving to Gettysburg and was in the warehouse business here for a number of years, afterwards returning to his country home. He was elected Justice of Peace of Cumberland township, holding the office five years and was also Assessor recently in his township, and it was always his effort to give the best and most faithful service. The funeral will be held this Wednesday, morning at 9 o'clock. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Fisher, Cape Charles, Va., Mrs. Wherley Rudisill, of Cumberland township. Three sisters survive, Mrs. W. Ross White of Freedom township, Mrs. Harriet Barr and Mrs. Jennie McIlhenny, of this place, and three step-sisters, Mrs. John Agnew, Mrs. Harry Crow and Mrs. Mary Snyder.

Mrs. Annie E. Beecher, wife of John H. Beecher, died at the residence of her niece, Mrs. James B. Hoover at Waynesboro on last Wednesday from pneumonia within a few weeks of 60 years of age. Her husband died May 14 of this year and since then her health began to fail, being bedfast since June 21. She was born at Fountaindale, this county, July 29, 1847, a daughter of Frederick Saylor. Thirty-seven years ago she married John H. Beecher and lived near Gettysburg until eight years ago when she removed with her husband to Waynesboro. Mrs. Beecher was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church from girlhood and was held in high regard by all who knew her and specially by many of our people to whom she was well known. The funeral was held on last Friday services by Rev. V. T. Roe; interment at Waynesboro. She is survived by her adopted son, Howard S. Geiselman, of Waynesboro, a sister Mrs. Wm. Rowe of Fairfield, and a brother, Joseph Saylor of Fayetteville.

Mrs. Susan Null died at the Old Ladies' Home, County Home, on Wednesday of last week aged 89 years, 9 months and 29 days. She was a native of Abbotstown, lived there her entire life until two years ago when on account of her infirmities she came to the County Home. She was held in high esteem in Abbotstown, was a great Bible student and well versed in the local history of her town and surroundings. Although no near relatives survive her funeral on last Thursday, conducted by Rev. R. H. Clure, was largely attended, and interment made in Lutheran cemetery.

George G. Waller died at his home at Council Bluffs, Iowa, in the last week of June, having reached the great age of 89 years. The funeral was on Monday of last week. He was a native of this county, a son of Geo.

Walter, a prominent citizen for many years of Straban township, and in his later days of this place. Out of a large family of a dozen children, but two now survive, Mrs. Charlotte Pickering in her 87th year and Jesse M. Walter in his 83rd year.

Infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobs of Baltimore died on Monday from cholera infantum aged six months. Funeral will take place here on Wednesday, services by Rev. E. H. True, interment in Evergreen cemetery. Mrs. Jacobs was Miss Louise Givler.

P. O. S. of A. Dedication.
The fine new hall of the P. O. S. of A. in Littlestown was dedicated with interesting services and big demonstration on July Fourth. Littlestown was packed with a crowd to take part in the parade and see the sights.

The building is a handsome two-story brick building on Hanover street, the first floor and basement will be rented for store purposes and second story is well arranged for the Littlestown camp.

The parade began at 12:30 and was in charge of Hon. C. H. Duttera and L. M. Alleman as chief marshalls, and camps with attending bands were in line. Five bands and delegations, from Gettysburg, Hanover, Taneytown, York, Frederick, New Oxford, Heidersburg, Eberton, Mayberry and Pleasant Valley composed the 600 men in line. The Citizens' Band of Gettysburg was acknowledged to be the crack band of the occasion. Hanover took first prize of $30 for having most men in line, 109, and Taneytown second prize of $5 for 105 men in line.

The dedication services took place in the new hall. Rev. J. J. Hill opened with prayer, then came the dedicatory service of the Order. Address of welcome was made by W. A. Burgoon, and addresses were made by State President H. C. Gallagher, State Vice Pres. Wm. Weand and Master of Forms Calvin Strayer and Mr. McAllister of Gettysburg and Mr. Warfield of Columbia.

At a regular meeting of Washington Camp No. 414 P. O. S. of A. on July 3 a letter of thanks was extended to the Citizens' Band of Gettysburg for their services rendered at Littlestown and also for the music rendered on the evening of our festival. The band has the best wishes of the Camp for success in the future.

Fine Imported German Coach Horse.
A stock company formed in this section of the county has purchased a beautiful imported German Coach Stallion, paying $3,000 for the animal. The horse's name is "Sieto" (No. 3625) and was purchased from H. P. Reynolds & Co. of Paradise Stock Farm, Aitch, Pa., importers and breeders of thoroughbred horses.

"Sieto" is a perfect beauty aged 4 years, stands 16 hands high, weighs 1400 lbs., is a beautiful bay and scored 98-3-4 points by the U. S. and German Government inspectors. He is possibly one of the best and handsomest bred horses in the state.

The German coach is a great combination horse, probably having a superior, having been bred and trained by the German government for 200 years.

The horses possess, in a marvelous degree, the necessary qualifications for a strictly useful animal.

They have pure blood, age, action, docility, fire, size and as much speed as is necessary for a useful harness horse.

The horse will be at Hotel Gettysburg stable on Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays and at Fairfield on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Decreasing Almshouse Expenses.
The Democratic County Committee, passed a resolution calling attention to the decreasing expense account at the Almshouse under Democratic administration and asked the approval thereof by the voters at the polls by the election of Democratic candidate for Director of Poor.

This decreasing expense account in figures is as follows: For the first six months of the financial year of the institution the expenses have run as follows: In 1903, $10,772.66, in 1904, $10,236.82, in 1905, $10,708.67. These were years under Republican administration. In 1906 under Democratic administration $10,245.95 and in 1907, $8,915.18. The decrease to 1907, would have been larger but for extraordinary expenses, the five furnaces under issue department were taken out and one big plant installed at a cost of over $900, but the fuel bill was cut down, $300 by the change. Then an ice house was built.

The comparison of expenses by months is as follows:

	1905	1906	1907
Feb.	$1502.31	$1641.41	$1741.19
March	1534.26	1696.07	1080.49

May	1030.60	1006.26	1162.34

July	1838.56	1740.86	1318.29
	10,709.67	10,245.95	8,915.18

In other words the almshouse in 1907 has been run for the first six months of the year at an expense of $1330.77 less than in 1906, $1794.49 less than in 1905, $1311.64 less than in 1904 and $1862.70 less than in 1903.

A Lazy Liver
 May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid, as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. In treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.
 If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, or "rises" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.
 The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.
 Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic druggists, but a remedy that cures all cases of Rheumatism. I can now surely kill the pains and cure of this terrible disease.
 In Germany with a Chamberlain in the City of Darmstadt, I found the man who had invented a perfect, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I have found the cure. This is a true story. Those who have suffered from this terrible disease, those who have found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy

IS UNIVERSAL DRUG

VIRTUES OF QUININE KNOWN TO ALL PEOPLES.

Many Stories Told of its Introduction to the World of Medicine, But its Value is Beyond Dispute.

It is to be assumed that everyone in the civilized world has taken a dose of quinine at some time or other. It is the universal drug. Its value is appreciated by the masses, who use it only for colds and fevers. As a tonic it is unsurpassed. As an alternative it has no equal in materia medica.

A distinguished surgeon has said: "If I wanted to ferment a barrel of cabbage in less time than anyone else could, I would put in it an eighth of an ounce of quinine. A little quinine in disordered stomachs acts just about as it would in the cabbage. It hastens the assimilation of the food and restores normal conditions."

The habitual user of quinine, however, becomes a slave to the drug, and thus derives little benefit from it. Men with malaria eat it by the ounce, and still retain the malaria. The world is full of quinine fiends, who pour a spoonful into the palm of one hand and lick it down without a grimace.

They are known to chew cinchona bark as if it were gum. Others not habituated must take two grains or ten in a gelatin capsule. Before capsules were invented it was taken in molasses and the chances are that the molasses effected the cure. Too much quinine is almost as bad as too much calomel.

The world is indebted to Louis XIV. for the general introduction of quinine. In France and Italy physicians who prescribed its use were persecuted. Protestants altogether repudiated it. Robert Talbot, an Englishman, cured his daughter with it, and Louis Le Grand was induced to buy the secret. He was the only king that ever embarked in the drug business.

There are several pretty romances connected with the discovery of "kina," as the native Indians of Peru called the cinchona trees, from which quinine is derived. The drug has had a lot of names—quinine, cinchona, countess powder, Jesuit's bark, Cardinal De Lugo's powder, Peruvian bark, China bark, quina, quiquina, cinchona bark, etc., and the pronunciation of the word "quinine" appears to be a matter of geography—kwi-nine, kwe-neen, kin-nine, keen-neen, or kin-neen—take your choice.

The discovery of cinchona bark is enveloped in mystery. The wife of the Spanish viceroy of Peru was Countess Chinchon. She was cured of an intermittent fever by drinking an infusion of the bark, introduced it in Madrid, and bestowed her name upon it—chincona. We have corrupted this into cinchona. That's one story. Another is that the Jesuit missionaries, who were accustomed to waste the bark of every tree they hewed down, discovered the precious febrifuge.

A third is that certain animals, while in a fever, happened to know the bark of the cinchona tree and were cured. A fourth is that some person suffering with fever drank copiously of a pool of water in which some fallen cinchona trees had long been soaking, charging the water with the medicinal principle. Their speedy cure led to an investigation, which discovered quinine.

A strange fact in this connection is that quinine is not used as medicine in the practice of the native physicians of Peru, Ecuador or Colombia. The Indians did not even know of its existence until enlightened by the Spaniards about 250 years ago.

Deadwood To-Day.

"The impression that Deadwood, S. D., is a 'bad' town is a very grave mistake," said Col. W. H. Parker, representative-elect from that state. "I have lived there 30 years and I have never seen anything very different from other western cities. Some years ago there was a great deal of gambling, but it was never licensed as it is in Montana and Wyoming. Now, however, there is little gambling, and Deadwood is one of the most orderly towns I have ever seen. I understand there is a popular belief that there was such a man as 'Deadwood Dick,' who was the head of many thrilling adventures. If he ever lived in Deadwood or South Dakota I never knew him. He was a creature of some writer's fertile brain. Deadwood is a growing city of about 6,000 people. It is separated from Lead City by an imaginary line. The latter city has 10,000 people, and it is not improbable that some time the two cities will unite."—Washington Post.

Beat This If You Can.

"Speaking of warm winters," said a subscriber who visited the office of the Lewiston Journal, "do you recall the winter of 1832? In that winter I went to school from December until March barefooted, with nothing on but linen pants and a cotton shirt. And it was so hot sometimes during recess that I took off my shirt. In that winter, Christmas day I picked eight quarts of ripe strawberries in a field opposite my father's house in the town of Turner, and I never had a snow-stroke. It was so warm that winter they forgot to hold the annual state legislature at Augusta." The faithful compiler added that he shed all winter without bud clothes and the mosquitoes bit savagely.

Costs to Keep Umbrellas.

"That old umbrella joke about one's inability to keep one for any length of time came back to me with unusual force this morning," remarked the careful man. "I received my umbrella back from the repair man with a bill for $3.85 for recovering it and putting in a new ferrule. The umbrella originally cost me $4.50. I've had it four years now and in that time it has been recovered twice so that it stands me in nearly double its original cost. But then I suppose that is the price I have to pay for my vanity in being able to keep one umbrella for so long."

Mind.

Alfred Woodruff, a six-year-old boy in the El Reno public schools, was asked by "teacher" to write an essay on mind, and here is what his mind produced: "You must mind your mother or you will get a lickin. Then you will cry. Some mothers are cross. Some mothers lick you for running off. Some mothers lick you for going up town. Some mothers lick you for going a-swimming. If you will mind you will never get lickin."—Kansas City Journal.

A High Regard.

"I suppose you have a certain admiration and esteem for our government," said the sarcastic citizen. "Indubitably," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "Our government has trained some of the most efficient men that we capitalists have in our employ."—Washington Star.

HOW LEVEES ARE MADE.

Important Changes in Methods of Building Them.

The modern method of levee building is nowhere more scientifically demonstrated than in the St. Francis district. In the early days of levee building it was thought that any pile of dirt approximately 30 high and 30 wide and running approximately parallel with the river was good enough.

The delusion cost thousands of dollars. To-day the site of the projected levee is carefully cleared of all trees, the very roots being grubbed out, because these would decay otherwise, leaving channels through the soil under the dyke through which silt water would quickly undermine the structure.

Down the center of the cleared site a trench, called technically a muck ditch, is dug, and in this puddled clay or buckshot is filled. Upon this the earth dug from borrow pits adjacent to the levee on the landward side is placed.

It is not dumped helter-skelter, but carefully spread in layers giving the finished mound the maximum strength and solidity. These layers extend both laterally and longitudinally across the levee, binding it in every direction.

The work of placing the dirt is done principally by means of wheel scrapers operated by mules. Under some circumstances small flatcars are used, propelled by a locomotive and bringing the earth from a greater distance. This is not often done except when continued rains have made the ground too soft for successful work with the teams—The World To-day.

Sea of Oranges.

A sea covered with oranges is one of the unusual attractions near Ventura, Cal., at the mouth of the Santa Clara river. Thousands upon thousands of oranges floating on the ocean's surface, many of them strewn the beach, give an indescribably beautiful golden hue to the sea.

There are wonder for some time as to how the oranges got into the sea. The belief was general that they came from washed out orchards in the east end of the county, owing to the high storm waters in the river. This is not the case, however. The oranges were deliberately thrown into the Sespe creek from the Sespe bridge, 25 miles back from the coast. From the Sespe they found their way back into the Santa Clara river and thence into the sea.

The oranges are from the great packing houses in the Sespe country. They are known as culls, but most of them are good, or were when dumped off the bridge. It is claimed that only the best oranges can be shipped and sold.

The Invention of Armor.

The idea of the invention of armor for the protection of the body from weapons came from the ancients, who, noticing the natural armor of various kinds of animals, particularly the armadillo, imitated it.

In early times before metal was used in armor making the warriors used rough hides to several thicknesses, and the first armor ever worn was made from slices taken from the hoofs of horses and fastened together with pegs. Fish scales and the scales of large snakes were also gathered and fastened together until they formed a thick layer and were used as armor.

The armor of the Middle Ages was a continuation of the ancient kind, made in the form of scales of iron or steel. Certain kinds of mail used in early times in England were copied from the shells of crabs and lobsters. —Sunday Magazine.

Taffeta-Tipped Cigarettes.

There's a new cigarette staring women in the face. Instead of having a cork tip it is tipped with the finest quality of taffeta silk. The monogram matches the silk in color and the whole affair is so attractive that the beholder doesn't wonder why women take to smoking. Even ultra-conservative, old fashioned matrons felt constrained to admit that the little cylinders were pretty. Since it has been learned that the Colony club, most exclusive of women's organizations, permits women smoking, apparently many humbler sisters have acquired a longing to puff.

Lessons in Tree Planting.

What a lesson for the child is the simple planting of a tree! It is first a lesson in usefulness, in kindness and in love, because it teaches thoughtfulness for others. It is a lesson in good citizenship, because it looks forward to the needs of the future. It is a lesson in economics, a lesson in the realm of wonderful Mother Nature, a lesson in art, a lesson in details—in all these things and others, because the act is making the world more beautiful, more comfortable, more useful, more abundant and therefore a better world to live in.

Will the Hotel Men Make Good?

About a month ago a committee of business men of the town formulated plans for a league devoted to the development of tourism to Gettysburg and the welfare of the town. The formation of such a league was urged and advocated by hotel men here. This committee was enthusiastic over the matter and decided as the hotel men would reap the greatest part of the direct benefits that they ought to support the movement more largely than any other business interest. Papers were prepared for the hotel men to put up at least $500 a year for the purpose and that much more would be put up by the other business interests of the town. Have the hotel men of the town made good? Will they make good?

That this proportion of support asked of the hotel men was just and equitable is demonstrated by actual experience in another place. Atlantic City has an organization devoted to the development of tourism there. The hotels of that place without murmur or hesitation last year put up 60 per cent. of the support of the organization and other business interests 40 per cent. Will the hotel men of this place make good with 50 per cent?

Why shouldn't they make good? It would be no experiment, for excursion points have doubled, tripled and even increased ten fold their tourism by organized development and exploitation. On the other hand Mammoth Cave when advertised and exploited years ago had an average of 93 visitors for every day in the year and at the present time it has about a dozen a day, and all because absolutely nothing is done to attract the visitor to the place. Will the hotel men make good?

One visitor after another comes here and there is but one verdict, that Gettysburg is great, and the very next suggestion is why don't you get the people to come here. Why do you sit still and wait with folded hands for the traveler to stumble into the place? Why don't you get up and go after them?

Why? Will the hotel men make good? Will they put up the stuff to develop the tourism that they are going to take care of when it comes here? The papers are in their hands. The other business interests are ready to do their part. Are the hotel men of Gettysburg asleep? Do they imagine that other business interests will put up all the money to have them gather in the profits? If they do they are fooled, for it is up to them to decide whether they will make business for themselves. Will the hotel men make good?

Young's Dismissal.

The following dispatch was let go last week from Harrisburg and appeared in Wednesday's papers stating, "State Treasurer Berry announced that he had dismissed George F. Young of Gettysburg from the clerkship he held in the Treasury. Mr. Young was a personal appointee of former State Treasurer Mathues and was retained by Mr. Berry."

Former Treasurer Mathues and Young were caught going over the State Treasury books at night, for what purpose is yet a secret; but Young was at once suspended, and Mr. Berry has been investigating his case.

The result of the investigation must have convinced the State Treasurer that Mathues and Young were not in the Treasury at midnight for any good purpose and he made the suspension permanent today.

If this statement of the dismissal is an attempt to claim for Mr. Berry the credit for same it may be worth while to recall that Mr. Berry did not act until the Democratic State Convention had condemned the midnight visit and the Democratic County Committee of Adams county on June 29 had asked for the dismissal. He simply took orders from his party.

No one attaches any blame to Mr. Young for trying to hold on to his job as long as he could. Democrats however believe he should be commended to the tender mercies of Mr. Mathues, who should take care of him, as he placed him in the position he happens to be in at the present time.

MEASURED TROLLEY TRACKS

STRANGER SPENT OVER A WEEK HERE ON QUEER JOB.

Brought Back to Answer Charge of Jumping His Board Bill.

Whenever you see a crowd of Gettysburg people giving each other the laugh you can depend upon it that it is over measuring the trolley tracks.

Whether it was a hoax or some new game it went for a week, though now that it has run its course it looks so foolish as to be ridiculous.

A stranger landed in town about June 27 calling himself Edward A. Francis. He declared his business to be measuring trolley tracks for the government. When T. P. Turner found out what he was doing he asked him for his authority and he replied that he was working under James R. Garfield of the Department of Commerce at Washington, but he did not exhibit any credentials of his authority.

He employed John Weaver, Edgar Faber, Roy Eyer and Nelson Sharetts to help him measure trolley tracks at $2 a day. It was great sport and tales were heard of what an easy snap it was, that only a few hours a day was spent on the work. They were asked whether they did not want permanent jobs of measuring trolley tracks and arrangements were made to take up the work.

Saturday evening arrived, when first week's pay was due and after banks had closed checks were given the four helpers for their wages and they were told to be ready for work on Monday.

He took a liking to the souvenir goods of Pen Myers and nothing would do but he should have a lot of them. He made selection of goods to the amount of $54 and Pen had the goods packed and on Saturday afternoon the goods were delivered at U. S. express office under orders to hold. Saturday evening Pen received a check on the Gettysburg National Bank for the goods but he would not leave the goods go until he knew whether check was good and on Monday he found out that there was no money in bank to meet check, as others also found out to whom checks had been given.

Francis boarded at the Globe Hotel but he succeeded in taking the 7 o'clock train on Monday for Harrisburg. As soon as George F. Ensminger, proprietor of the Globe discovered his boarder had gone without paying his bill of $12.50 he made information and a warrant was issued by Justice Hill. Francis was met at Harrisburg by officers who had been communicated with by phone and Constable Wilson took next train and brought back the man and delivered him over to Sheriff Colestock Monday evening.

T. P. Turner wrote to James R. Garfield, of the Dept. of Commerce, of the representations made to him by Francis, and on Monday received a letter from that department saying that no work of the kind was being done by the department and that he was not in their employment.

Yet the trolley tracks were measured to Round Top.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill. Sold by The People's Drug Store."

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting Statement by The People's Drug Store.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particular indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or The People's Drug Store is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

MEANT TO SUCCEED

RISE OF TWO MEN FROM SMALL BEGINNINGS.

Natural Hustlers and Workers Were Marshall O. Roberts and Leland Stanford—Smart Trick Worked by the Former.

It was Marshall O. Roberts who originated the idea of giving his store an air of prosperity by filling his counters with the appearance of goods, says a writer in Spare Moments, when he could not afford the actual stock.

In 1835 young Roberts had managed to scrape together a few hundred dollars, the result of many years' close saving, though he was only 21 at the time. He had decided to try his hand at the hardware and shipping supply business.

The first thing was to find a suitable building in a suitable location. But the two requirements could not be found together, so he was finally compelled to take a large building, in which his small stock seemed completely lost.

After arranging his shelves in every possible way to make them appear to good advantage, he gave up in disgust.

"They look like so many samples," he complained, and it is said, immediately went out and ordered a load of bricks sent to the store.

These he took one by one and neatly wrapped, tying a sample of a nail or a screw or a rivet to the end that would be visible. The bricks were about the size of many of his boxes, and when the shelves were filled with them his store appeared to be exceedingly well stocked. Naturally customers were drawn to the firm that kept the largest stock.

According to the same authority Leland Stanford's first earnings were the result of digging horseradish, washing it, and carrying it to the nearest town. He received, as his share of the enterprise, 25 cents. He was then six years old. In his eighth year he worked hard gathering chestnuts, which he sold for 25c.

During the successive years he toiled on the farm in the summer and attended school in the winter, all the time dreaming of a college education and later of becoming a lawyer. When he was 18 there was no money in sight for the carrying out of his cherished plans and the outlook, to say the least, was not encouraging. Consequently he hailed with delight his father's offer to allow him the profits from clearing a tract of woodland recently purchased. He was to have all he could make selling cordwood.

He went at it with zest, hiring other woodchoppers to help him, and before a year of the hardest kind of toil had ended he had chopped and shipped more than 2,000 cords of wood and had in the bank $2,600. He did not lose sight of his purpose, but used the money to finish his common school education and then at a law school.

Rather Embarrassing.

"I had the most dreadful time at dinner last evening," said the pretty girl in the empire princess gown. "I dined with some western people I do not know very well, and as the door of the butler's pantry swung open I caught sight of a large, delicious looking chocolate cake, which was evidently to form a part of the dessert. The hostess caught me looking. 'So I confessed with my usual lovely frankness: 'I saw your dessert and I am so pleased, for it is just what I best like.' Of course she beamed, but when the dessert was brought on it was mince pie. I have never before encountered it at a New York dinner, and it is the only thing in the world that I positively cannot eat; yet I had declared that I had a deep fondness for the dessert. I thought I should faint. Explanations were too tiresome and possibly embarrassing. I summoned all my nerve and ate—no, gulped the pie, miserably at every bite. The worst was that when I had finished my hostess insisted I should have another piece, and I escaped with the utmost difficulty."—N. Y. Sun.

Business Chances in Persia.

Persia buys chiefly cotton yarns, thread and tissues, sugar, tea, woolen tissues, fancy goods, petroleum, clothing, iron and manufactures of furniture and glassware. Were it not that the new National Bank of Persia is obliged, or forfeit its charter, immediately to loan the Persian government $3,333,000 at nine percent, the bank concession would be a perfect snap. It has priority over all others on the same terms in regard to the mines, the pearl fishery in the Persian gulf, and construction of roads and railways, and will have the right to issue bank notes when the Imperial Bank of Persia comes to do so. The London Times, however, says: "The Imperial Bank of Persia possesses the sole privilege of issuing bank notes in Persia for 50 years to come." Foreigners are excluded from participation in the new bank.

Two Ideas of the Home.

During a discussion of "the home" at the Women's club convention at Carlisle, one woman declared that a home cannot be ideal without the right kind of a father. Another delegate replied: "It is my opinion you can make a home without a man, but you can't make one without a woman. I am a great lover of the man, but I don't go on. I am so proud."

You cannot make it go by shaking it. When the bowels are constipated you can disturb them with cathartics but, like the watch, they will not be able to do their allotted work until they are put into proper condition to do it. A QUESTION OF CONFIDENCE

By NELLIE CRAVEY GILLMORE

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Tharpe had been silent throughout the meal. He knew, as well as did his wife, sitting on the opposite side of the table, that one of his difficult spells was upon him—and that it would be days before he could hope to shake off its influence. He was absent-mindedly scribbling on the linen cloth with the prongs of his fork, his food scarcely touched.

Dallas watched him narrowly. She knew when she married Tharpe that she had undertaken a tremendous proposition. She loved him, and that bridged every prospective mental hardship she would probably be called upon to endure. So—notwithstanding her thorough knowledge of his former career, and her keen insight into his present character and inevitable temperament—she slipped quite willingly into the yoke.

Presently he looked up from his plate and encountered her eyes with a curious, ironical glance.

"I am going away, Dallas," he said: "you know why."

"Going—away?" She dropped her knife and fork and stared at him in hurt silence.

"When shall we start, Douglas?" she asked.

"Well, I said that I was going—"

"But I thought, naturally—"

"I interpolated swiftly, and broke off, a disappointed look creeping into her eyes."

Tharpe shook his head, his eyes averted stubbornly from her pleading gaze. After a little, he ventured to look up.

"It is just this, Dallas. The devil's got his claws in me again, and—I've got to do something. I've got to get away, by myself, and fight him down—strangle him for good and all—if I can. You've put up with this sort of thing long enough, and I'm determined—don't try to dissuade me, dear—I'm in earnest, fearful earnest."

Dallas said nothing, though her eyes filled with tears.

"Would you wish me to have your things packed, or would you rather attend to it yourself? I hope you will not be long away, dear."

"I'll see about packing. Are you going to miss me?" he demanded abruptly.

"Am I? Oh, Douglas!" She rose and went up to him, laying one of her hands, cool and slender as a white lily, on his shoulder.

He took her suddenly in his arms and crushed her against him.

"God knows I wish—" he stopped half way the sentence held her off from him, searching her eyes deeply, jealously.

"Dallas!" he cried, after a moment, "tell me; if I should stay for—say years, and then come back—would it be just the same between us?" He was trembling visibly.

His wife paled, but controlled herself by an effort.

"Always," she said. Her heart contracted.

"By the way," he remarked, presently, in a changed tone, "whatever became of the man, Ashton Villiers?"

Dallas caught her breath sharply. When they were first married, she had made a clean breast of her affair with Villiers, and the subject, by tacit consent, had been closed forever. It was some time before she replied.

"I had forgotten that such a person existed."

He regarded her quizzically for an instant.

"I am afraid it is a pity you did not choose him—instead of me," he pursued, tentatively. "I suppose he would have made you happier."

"When you talk in that fashion, Douglas, there is really no answer I can make. Anything I might say would tend only to make matters worse," she said wearily.

A sudden revulsion of feeling seized him.

"Forgive me, sweetheart. I am a miserable brute. That is just why I want to get away—to beat it to death, the fiend that is eating up my very vitals."

Dallas lifted her head and looked at him bravely.

"You trust me, Douglas?" she questioned wistfully.

"You know it." But even as he spoke, she caught his tell-tale flush, his shifting eye.

A few words more and they separated for the day. At six, Tharpe came home with the announcement that he would be going on the midnight train. He might return in a month—more likely, it would be twelve.

Mrs. Tharpe had been out the greater part of the day. She came in at twilight with a nagging headache. Throwing herself across a lounge, she fell into a deep, dreamless sleep. It was nine o'clock when she started up, with an inexplicable feeling of alarm. Her heart was throbbing fiercely and she felt weak and spent. She rose stiffly and went into the dining room. A tempting lunch was spread for her, but she felt ill and tired, and she left it untouched. She returned to her bedroom, shivering all over, and sat down close to the fire. A peremptory ring of the doorbell roused her sharply. She turned the knob and peered out, the full light of the hall chandelier flashing over her pale face.

"Dallas!"

She fell back, her hand going to her throat as though she felt stifled.

"You are not going to turn me out to-night? Don't, for God's sake!"

She essayed to speak, but her lips were dumb. But at last, by a gigantic effort, she found her voice and asked:

"How did you escape?"

"I did not escape. I was pardoned because—because I was dying. I wandered about till I found out where you were. I knew you wouldn't refuse me—to-night." He put out one hand weakly to the wall, to support himself. A violent fit of coughing ensued, after which he went on, gaspingly: "You see, I haven't any money, and I—well, I wanted to be near somebody I had known. You—you'll not refuse me?"

The mark of death was already upon the shrunken features.

"Come in," she said gently. "Of course I'll not turn you out. I—my husband is not at home, but it will be all right."

He held a folded paper in his hand; he laid it on the edge of the table. "That is my discharge," he explained. "If you care about looking it over."

She disappeared a moment, and returned with brandy and some food. Then she went out, leaving the sick man alone.

An hour passed. The click of a latch-key in the lock startled Dallas from her reverie. She ran out into the hall, her lips apart, her eyes sparkling.

"Douglas!"

He took her in his arms and kissed her. The sound of stifled coughing made him pause abruptly.

"What is that?"

In her excitement over Tharpe's home coming Dallas had almost forgotten the stranger.

"Douglas," she said, after a little, "come into my room and I'll tell you everything. My brother, the youngest one, committed a forgery. He was sent to prison for twenty years. Last week he was pardoned, and—you are not going to be angry?—he has come back to—to die." Her voice trailed off to a whisper and she covered her face with her hands.

There was a momentary silence. Abruptly Tharpe bent and drew her head to his shoulder and kissed her again. An hour later they went in to the sick man's room.

"Brother Fletcher—" Dallas began, then stopped suddenly and turned horrified eyes to her husband. He came up to the bed and stood looking down at the still, pallid face.

"Yes," he said, "there's no doubt of it—he's dead." He moved away as he spoke, and unconsciously his hand rested on the paper that had been left on the table. Dallas watched him with fascinated eyes as he presently picked it up and began to unfold it carelessly.

"Douglas," she cried, "that is mine—He—he gave it to me!"

Tharpe refolded it and laid it back on the table.

Dallas collected herself instantly and apologized. "Really," she said, "I'm so unstrung, you must think me ridiculous. I—I was afraid you might destroy the paper, and—and—"

"It is merely a discharge," he interrupted, gently, "and doesn't especially matter, now that he's dead. Let's go into another room, dear." He put his arm about her and led her away.

When they reached her own room, Dallas was sobbing softly, but sobbing for joy. Thank God, he had come home a "new man"—different. He trusted her at last!

The name on the certificate was Ashton Villiers.

POWER FROM ELECTRIC EELS.

Result of Recent Experiments by a Venezuelan Scientist.

Prof. de Esperando, head of the government college at Caracas, Venezuela, had a hundred average sized electric eels captured and copper wire encircled around their necks just below the ears and then connected them with a motor, the eels remaining in the river near the shore.

Their violent flopping and contortions proved a most uncertain sort of electric current, so he procured another hundred and put them into a zinc bath which he had in his house and connected it with the motor and found that they produced about 20 horse power. With this he ran a mill and lighted up his house and grounds.

The power from each eel sufficed to produce 45 candle incandescent lights.

Prof. de Esperando also has found that a motor car can be run for 24 hours with 100 eels in a tank three feet long and one and one-half feet square and weighing complete less than 200 pounds.

It is claimed that the largest ocean steamers afloat can be run with 200,000 eels, producing 40,000 horse power and contained in a tank not larger than 10x10x15. This plant, of course, will have to be duplicated so that when the energy in one is exhausted it can be hoisted from the hold to deck so that the light from the can infuse new energy into it.

The power is furnished by the eels.

plant.—Chicago Tribune.

Considerate Jr.

William Archer was advocating spelling reform at a dinner in New York. "I believe," he said, "that reformed spelling would be unanimously adopted by the public and weigh the matter with an open mind."

He paused and smiled. "But no," he said, "the public's attitude is such that it brings vividly before me an episode that I once heard related in London by Justice Darling. The justice as the trial of a certain case was about to begin started and said suddenly: 'But there are only 11 jurymen in the box. Where is the twelfth?'

"The foreman rose and held up his hand with a soothing gesture. 'It's all right, your honor,' he said respectfully. 'The twelfth jurymen had to go away on business, but he has left his verdict with me.'"

Oraculent Orange Cake.

Orange cake ranks among the good things of a luncheon climax. Sift one and one-fourth cups of pastry flour; with a pinch of salt and two teaspoons of baking powder, four times. Beat one cup of sugar, three egg yolks and one white until creamy and light yellow in color. Add gradually cup of cold water and the juice of half an orange, and beat.

Lastly add the sifted flour and beat thoroughly. The latter should be thinner than for an ordinary cake. Bake 25 or 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Use a pan eight by ten inches in size. For the frosting, beat the white of an egg until stiff and gradually one-half cup of powdered sugar, sometimes a bit more is required, and the juice and grated rind of half an orange. Beat until stiff and spread evenly on the cake.

Fish Croquettes.

Two tablespoons melted butter, two tablespoons sifted flour, stirred together until smooth. Pour in slowly one-half cup milk and cook until thick. Remove from stove and have ready some shredded codfish and mashed potatoes. Mix with the paste until thick enough to roll into shape about the size of a finger. Roll into cracker crumbs, then into one beaten egg, again into cracker crumbs, and fry in kettle of hot fat.

SOUFFLE OF PRUNE

SAVORY DISH NOT SUFFICIENTLY WELL KNOWN.

Excellent Substitute for Fruit When the Latter is Out of Season—Other Recipes Well Worth Trying.

Prune soufflé with the proper zest may take the place of fruit in a season when it is scarce. For prune soufflé beat the yolks of four eggs and three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar to a cream. Add one small teaspoonful of vanilla and mix them with half a pound of prunes. Wash well and stew until skins can be pierced with a toothpick, then drain, remove stones, and cut each prune into four pieces. Mix in lightly the whites of four eggs, which have been whipped to a stiff froth, a dash of salt having been added to the whites before whipping them. Turn into a pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Serve as soon as taken from the oven. A few nuts added to the prunes before the whites are folded in are an improvement.

Varying baked beans may be accomplished by trying a recipe liked by the Spaniards. One quart of white beans par-boiled, one quart of strained tomatoes, one onion chopped fine, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard, a sprinkle of red pepper, two or three small slices of salt pork. Salt to taste. Add one level teaspoonful of baking soda to water in which the beans are being par-boiled. More or less red pepper may be used as desired, and in place of salt pork a tablespoonful of butter may be substituted. If salt pork is used, parboil and cut into small squares, mix all in baking pan, and bake in oven two hours, or until beans are tender.

To stir the appetite of an invalid it is necessary to introduce a novelty in diet. Add a few grains of salt and pepper to three beaten egg yolks, half a pint of beef tea, flavored with parsley; strain into a double boiler and cook, stirring slowly until thickened; pour into cups and serve either hot or cold.

Onion sauce lends tone to meats. To make one that has met with favor among the best cooks, boil three or four white onions till tender, then mince fine; boil one-half pint of milk; add a large tablespoonful butter and salt and pepper to taste; stir in the minced onion and one tablespoonful flour moistened with cold milk. Boil till smooth. Serve with roast fowl.

Children enjoy cream puffs and cream cakes above all other things. Cream till smooth one pound of butter, and add the yolks of eight eggs beaten well with one-half pound of powdered sugar and one teaspoon of sweet cream. Stir in flour to make it stiff enough to roll out thin. Sprinkle over this powdered sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Cut in the shape of leaves and bake in a quick oven.

Rhubarb tarts may be made English fashion with a thin top crust over the stewed rhubarb. Buy firm, juicy, tender rhubarb, measure sufficient sugar, and put with the cut pieces on to stew. Pour into a deep pie tin and put on pie crust, baking in oven until done.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To prevent white fabrics, such as tulle or silk evening gowns, lace or crepe shawls, becoming yellow when packed away, sprinkle bits of white wax freely among the folds.

Macaroni or rice, if placed in a colander after cooking and rinsed with cold water, will not stick together in a solid mass, as it is otherwise inclined to do. The rice can be put into the oven for a moment afterward to reheat.

Wallpaper which is not stained in any way, but simply soiled by dust or smoke, can be cleaned by the simple means of oatmeal. This should be applied with a piece of flannel to the surface of the wall and then gone over by degrees.

In case of a tiled floor, a little linseed oil rubbed into the tiles subsequently polished with a soft cloth will bring out the color.

To clean a kettle, fill with potato parings and boil fast until quite clean.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

DEBILITY.

Many people who talk to me say: "I feel half sick all the time. I don't know what's the matter with me." This is general debility. It's very common. People who get in this shape have my sympathy. They aren't sick enough for bed so they drag around and their families get exasperated with them.

There are two causes for this condition; bad habits and a weak stomach. By bad habits I mean eating irregularly and too fast and not chewing the food thoroughly. The stomach gives out and loss of appetite, biliousness, constipation, and general debility result. First get the stomach in shape and then be more careful in the future, and the worn out, despondent, half sick feeling will be a thing of the past.

Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will put the stomach in shape. Common sense will do the rest. There are fifty thousand people in this country who know this to be true because they've tried it.

Here's a letter from one of them: "I was all run down from overwork, lost ambition and energy and could not sleep. It was difficult for me to attend to my work owing to that tired-out feeling. I secured two bottles of the New Discovery medicine and determined to try it. The result delighted me for renewed strength and vigor and energy came with the first few doses. It's effect was different from anything I had ever taken. I finished the two bottles now and feel well and strong again." E. McDade, 339 Dix Ave., Detroit, Mich.

We hear favorable reports of these famous medicines every day. Ask us about them.

READ THIS C.W. Weaver & Son vs. Mail Order Houses

We believe that the majority of people of this community who order goods from the mail order or catalogue houses, do so because they believe that they are unable to get the same goods or as good goods for the same prices at their own home stores, and not simply to exercise a privilege.

We believe that no one who orders from a catalogue house, such goods as dry goods, carpets, rugs, or anything we show in our great stock has investigated the resources of our stock and gotten our prices, and we therefore advise, and in fact insist, that any article in our line priced in a catalogue, be compared with goods in our stock. Goods that you can see, put your handson and on which we pay the freight. We also invite comparison of qualities as only good goods find place with us.

We solicit the trade of our community entirely on the merits of our goods—and not because we have an investment of fifty to sixty thousand dollars in dry goods—not because as citizens we have to help to pay for roads and public schools or because we contribute to public enterprises or public necessities of this community, but because we have studied your wants. We have the goods and stand ready to "show them" before you buy.

We also want to point out the fact that if for any reason anything bought from us proves unsatisfactory we are here where your claim can be adjusted without red tape.

If tempted to order therefore look us up first, look at the goods, get the prices (add your freight) 'see where your advantage lies.

Oil is the greatest and surest fortune maker the world has ever known. An oil company gets the product from the ground at an expense of about 5 cents per barrel and oil today is worth about $1.75 per barrel.

Robt. Rawlins, an oil expert, after examining the Adams County tract said, "I observed a scum on the surface of the water. It reflected the color of petroleum. A paper spread on the surface of the water where this scum appeared would burn while still wet. The paper must have absorbed oil. A bottle containing a little oil collected from certain springs certainly contained petroleum. I found several of the springs and streams contained gas, this gas I recognized as similar to what I have found in oil fields. Many oil fields of the world have been located by the appearance of oil on the surface of the water. And I believe that there is a subteranean oil strata."

Capital of the Company is 100,000 shares at $5 per share. Only a limited amount of stock is being offered, just enough for development purposes. A quantity of this stock has been sold in Connecticut and other distant points.

Work Has Begun

15,000 feet of lumber is ready for the first derrick. Contract for drilling is closed. Machinery is arriving and it is a matter of days until the drill begins on its voyage of discovery. Preparations have been made to go down about 3,000 feet.

Many Adams County people have invested their money far from home and sometimes lost it.

Here is a chance to spend money to help discover the natural resources of the country and if the drill opens up fortunes you can have the satisfaction of not only having aided in the development of the home county but also enjoying a share in what is found.

A small amount of the capital stock is offered to Adams County people at $3 a share, par value $5, for a limited period.
